

Disclosures

Important information regarding the status, purpose, and use of Vatra materials.

Effective: September 15, 2026

Vatra is currently an investment initiative being developed by Solten Ventures LLC. No investment fund is presently being offered through vatra.vc.

1. Current Status of Vatra

Vatra is a developing investment initiative and public-facing identity of Solten Ventures LLC. It is not currently presented on this website as an operating pooled investment fund or as an offering of fund interests.

Any future fund, special purpose vehicle, co-investment, managed account, or other investment structure may be organized through a separate legal entity, sponsor, adviser, platform, or service provider and would be subject to separate documentation and applicable law.

2. No Offer or Solicitation

Nothing on this website constitutes an offer to sell or a solicitation of an offer to buy any security, fund interest, or other investment product. No website visitor is being asked through these materials to make an investment commitment.

If any securities are offered in the future, the offer will be made only through definitive legal documents and in reliance on an applicable registration statement, exemption, or exclusion, as determined for that specific offering.

3. No Investment Advice or Recommendation

Website content, research references, thematic views, company discussions, and market observations are for informational purposes only. They do not constitute individualized investment advice, a recommendation, a rating, or an invitation to enter into any transaction.

Nothing on this website should be understood as creating an investment-advisory or fiduciary relationship.

4. Research and Investment Themes

Vatra may describe areas of interest such as AI infrastructure, AI software and systems, physical AI, robotics, autonomy, AI-enabled financial technology, AI-enabled life sciences and biotechnology, and other sectors affected by artificial intelligence.

These areas are thematic interests rather than a commitment to invest, an allocation target, or a representation that any particular strategy or investment vehicle currently exists.

5. Future-Looking Statements

Statements regarding future plans, intended areas of focus, potential structures, expected development, or possible investment activity are inherently uncertain. They may change or may not occur. No reliance should be placed on such statements as promises or forecasts.

6. No Track Record Presented

Unless expressly identified otherwise in future legally compliant materials, information on vatra.vc should not be interpreted as presenting a track record, performance history, assets under management, committed capital, portfolio, or investment return of Vatra.

7. Company and Founder Communications

Inviting founders to share a company does not represent an offer of financing. Submission of company information does not imply that capital is available, that a review will occur, or that an investment will be made.

8. Investor and Partner Communications

Inviting investors, family offices, fund managers, operators, or other partners to start a conversation is intended to build professional relationships and exchange information about areas of mutual interest. It is not, by itself, an offering or subscription process.

9. Third-Party Information and Links

References to third parties, external research, market data, news, or linked websites are provided for context. Vatra and Solten Ventures LLC do not guarantee the accuracy or completeness of third-party information and do not endorse a third party merely by referencing it.

10. Professional Advice

Potential investors, founders, and other parties should consult their own legal, tax, accounting, financial, and other professional advisers regarding their circumstances and any future transaction.

Contact

Questions about this document or Vatra may be directed through vatra.vc or the contact channels identified on that website.